DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (If known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

(Excerpted from Ridout article. See attached sheets)

Situated at the edge of Old Annapolis Road, north of Severna Park, is a small, stone house. It is surrounded by trees and shielded from the road by a high hedge.

The house is one and one half stories high with a gambrel roof. The walls are constructed of iron pyrite field-stone. The roof is wood shingled. A single chimney rises at each end of the house. The front elevation is symmetrical; with a center door flanked by one window on either side.

The interior plan now consists of two rooms on the first floor. The original center hall plan has been altered so that the front door is blocked; entry is made through the rear door into a vestibule and then into the living room. The stairway now rises from the living room. The fireplaces on the first floor have been stripped so that the arched brick opening is revealed. A small, window stair, rises beside the dining room chimney. It is now blocked.

The house has a full basement with a large fireplace opening in one chimney. The opening is 5 feet wide with a 12 foot lintel.

"The Stone House stands on property that was laid out as "Huckleberry Forest", a tract of 1161 acres along the South shore of the Magothy River. This land belonged to Richard Beard as early as 1687. Beard was a man of extensive interests, he owned the first lot laid off at Londontown on South River, and he surveyed and drew the first map of Annapolis..... Beard built several grist mills, one of them near his stone house on Old Mans Creek. This same creek formed the Southern boundary of Baltimore County from 1698 to 1726.

Beard's farm extended down to Cattail Creek and was also bounded by Wold Pitt Branch. It was purchased by Robinson in 1702 and was the home of Col. Elijah "Robison", his grandson. The colonel was a noted Revolutionary officer who misspelled the family name, owned twenty-five slaves, was a man of character and importance in his community and married Mary Warfield as his third wife.

The Robinson and Randall heirs sold the Stone House property to John Tydings for $2,000. in 1837. Mr. Tydings' son John Lewis Tydings married Laura C. Robinson and the property now belongs to their daughter, Mrs. Garcelon, who is thus a descendant of the two families who have owned the old Stone House property for two hundred and forty five years."
